

An amazing inland city, Chengdu - "Once you come to Chengdu, you will never want to leave it."

This is quoted from one of the most famous Chinese movie director, Zhang Yi Mou, and this is what actually happened to well-known Singapore UWH player Eric Chon Ming Ng.

Chengdu is the capital city of Sichuan province, it's known as "the land of abundance" since ancient times, it's now the technological, commercial, trading, financial and transportation center of southwest China. 20% of the world's computers are made in Chengdu, 50% of chips of notebook are tested and packaged here, and 70% of iPads are produced here. 252 out of Fortune Global 500 companies are based here, such as Intel, Volkswagen and Chevron etc. 15 foreign banks and 15 insurance companies have set up their branches here, such as Citi bank, HSBC and NCB etc. There are 10 countries have already set up consulates in Chengdu, such as the US, Germany, Thailand, etc. The foreign passenger dealing capacity in Chengdu Shuangliu International Airport reached 4 million person/times. Chengdu's area is about 12,400 square kilometers, it's population is about 14.17 million. The pleasant living environment makes Chengdu become one of China's the most inhabitable city.

Let's find out more about Chengdu!

Food, the most popular local food is Hotpot.

There are about 12793 hotpot restaurants in Chengdu and this number equals to the total number of hotpot restaurants in Beijing (9330) and Guangzhou (3723), also it's twice number of Shanghai's.

I strongly believe that every foreign visitors tried out Hotpot when they were in Chengdu, because the English Prime Minister Mr. Cameron did.

So, get your tongue ready to taste what real spicy food is.

Local Snacks, the total number of local snack shops is No.1 in the nation.

Top 1 is noodle shop,

Top 2 is shop of marinated food and cold dishes,

Marinated food of meats and cold dishes of vegetables.

Top 3 is Fei Chang Fen shop (Sweet potato noodles with pig's intestine).

Other local snacks, such as "San Da Pao" - Sticky Rice Ball,

"Tian Shui Mian" - Sweet and Spicy Noodles,

"Chuan Chuan" - Food on the sticks.

Tea, there are about 9708 tea houses in Chengdu, and this number is greater than total number of tea houses in Beijing (2277), Shanghai (2549) and Guangzhou (1095). The local culture tells us that more than half of the businesses were dealt in the tea house.

"Shun Xing Old Tea House" is one of the most famous tea house in Chengdu, you can enjoy the traditional tea service, also some local snacks, "Kung Fu Tea" show and some Sichuan opera, such as "Face Change" here.

"Kung Fu Tea" show & "Face Change"

There are still some old tea houses remained, and that's where you can find the history and memory of this city.

Bar, there are about 1988 bars in Chengdu, and this number is even greater than the number of bars in Beijing (1654) and Guangzhou (1773).

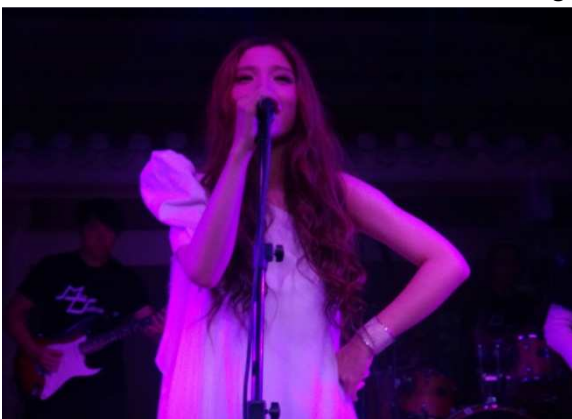

Lan Kwai Fong is not only in Hong Kong, but also here in Chengdu.

On the "Jiu Yan Qiao" (Nine Holes Bridge) bar street, the exciting time just get started when the night comes.

There are all different kinds of bars and nightclubs, a great variety of entertaining activities going on there.

People says, in Chengdu, there are not so many skyscrapers as there are in Shanghai.

That's true.

But, the beauty of Chengdu is symmetrical.

At the Wang Jiang river banks, one side is historical beauty and another side is modern city.

At the Tai koo Li, the mix of ancient and modern buildings, is a development of architecture and also a preservation of history.

People says, in Chengdu, there are not so many high-end restaurants as there are in Beijing.
That's true.

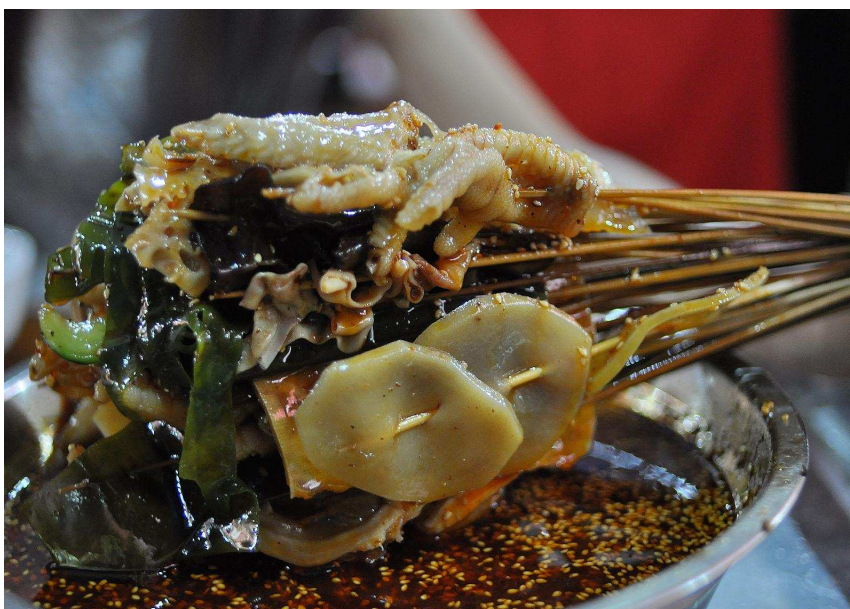

But, in our mind, the taste of food is much more important than the environment of restaurant.

The taste of food has nothing much to do with money here, because, very often you can see that people will drive their Mercedes to a shabby restaurant, as long as the food is good there.

The names of restaurant, such as LV BBQ or Hermes Hotpot don't represent the environment of restaurants, but they do represent the taste of food there.

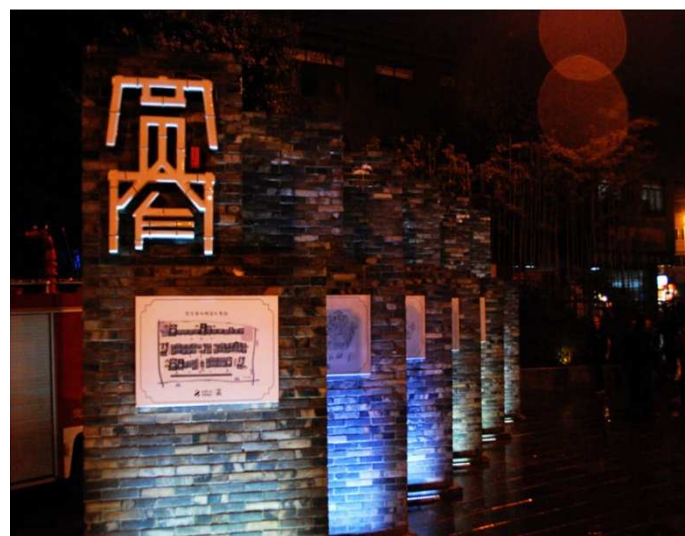

People says, in Chengdu, the night scene isn't as beautiful as it is in Chongqing.

And that's true.

Because, Chengdu is plain and Chongqing is full of mountains.

But, the night scene is like this in Chengdu...

The night and people are immersed in the ancient buildings.

Panda, certainly, this is one of the most valuable animal in the world! And the research base of giant panda is in Chengdu, you are able to get a very close touch with these adorable animals here. Yes, this only happens in Chengdu!

Super Cute!
